

AUGUST 20TH GKCCA LUNCHEON

“INVESTIGATING FIRE SCENES IN AN OSHA WORLD”

PRESENTED BY:
ANTHONY MORRONE, COZEN O’CONNOR
CHAIR, SUBROGATION & RECOVERY, MIDWEST REGION

The occupation Safety Health Administration was created to ensure that all workplaces are made as safe as they can be. Fire and scene investigators can be exposed to hazards as they comb through a scene and debris following a fire. Often times there is no way to identify those hazards before they are confronted with them. OSHA has recognized the unusual nature of this activity and focuses on training as a key element of complying with its regulations. This presentation will discuss the various requirements of OSHA and how they affect the way scenes are processed.

Anthony J. Morrone is the chair of the Midwest Region of the firm’s Subrogation & Recovery Department. He is also a co-chair of the firm’s Corrugated Stainless Steel Task Force, which focuses on fires caused by the failure of gas piping systems. Tony has successfully tried or arbitrated more than two dozen cases and has mediated many others. A member of the Federal Trial Bar, International Association of Arson Investigators and a frequent lecturer, Tony has handled the investigation and litigation of hundreds of fires, collapses, water losses and other casualty-related matters during his years as an attorney.
