

House Dems Urge Justices To Hear Pot Legalization Fight

Tuesday, September 15, 2020

Michael de Leeuw was featured in a Law360 article in which he called the federal government's cannabis prohibition a "disastrous anachronism that must be addressed immediately." He said that in light of public support for medical cannabis, the federal government's medical cannabis patents, and evidence showing it can be used safely for medical purposes, cannabis cannot remain a Schedule I drug.

Michael and Tamar Wise wrote and submitted a brief which is also linked with the article. Click here to read more.
