

Elder Abuse, Exploitation Is 'Rampant,' Says Cozen O'Connor Partner Taking the Helm of Florida Bar Committee

Monday, September 12, 2022

Howard Krooks shares his thoughts on our country's health care system, the importance of long-term care planning, and what he hopes to accomplish as the chair of the Florida Bar Elder Law Section in the Daily Business Review.

"I am of the opinion that the infrastructure for providing long-term care services and supports in the U.S. is failing our elderly population and people with disabilities in a significant way," said Howard.

In this article, Howard addresses the abuse, neglect, and exploitation that the elderly face and covers some difficult cases that elder law attorneys and their clients regularly encounter. He also shares what inspired him to become an elder law attorney and how he hopes to continue to be an advocate for the elderly and people with disabilities.

To read more, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Elder Law