Alicia Curran will be presenting a webinar for the Rossdale Group on the topic of Suing & Defending for COVID-19 Bad Faith Fees & Insurance Claims. The coronavirus, or COVID-19, has affected more than 5 million people worldwide and is projected to cost the global economy nearly 9 trillion dollars. Millions of businesses, governments, and individuals have been affected in the United States with unprecedented numbers of layoffs, business closures, and growing economic downturn. This has created an immediate need for attorneys fluent in cutting-edge issues involving bad faith insurance claims and fees — both to represent policyholders and insurance companies. In particular, attorneys must be experienced in litigating attorneys' fees, policyholder obligations, insurer's duties, handling the tender/offer, and settlement strategies, among others. The faculty for this seminar features three leading authorities in this practice, who will share the latest legal developments, regulations, compliance, and requirements for government, in-house, and private practitioners alike. This comprehensive program is a must-attend for attorneys seeking to best counsel clients on bad faith fees and claims involving the coronavirus or COVID-19. Registration includes online access to course and reference materials that serve as a helpful guide to the numerous topics and techniques discussed in the program.
