 Start Time: 1:00 pm

While the start of 2022 has fortunately seen an encouraging trajectory with the COVID-19 pandemic, employers are still facing (and will likely continue to face) challenges when it comes to complying with various mandates still existing around the country, as well as responding to legal claims by employees. This webinar will provide an update on mask and testing mandates, and discuss the lawsuits that have been filed asserting COVID-19-related claims.
