

Constitutional Claims a Threat to COVID-19 Shot-or-Test Rule

Tuesday, November 23, 2021

Jim Sullivan was quoted in Bloomberg Law discussing the OSHA ETS on the COVID-19 vaccine. The Biden administration's choice to have OSHA develop the shot-or-test rule "is so unprecedented that people are finding all kinds of ways to attack this," said Jim. Giving OSHA the "unrestricted discretion" to further the White House's policy priorities through emergency rulemaking "creates some serious constitutional delegation of authority questions," he said.

To read more of this article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Labor & Employment