

Impeachment Is Almost Over. Here Are the Dozens of Lawyers Who Got Involved

Wednesday, February 5, 2020

On February 5, the National Law Journal published an article about the private lawyers who were pulled into President Donald Trump's impeachment at "nearly every stage of the proceedings." As the article mentions, attorneys in Cozen O'Connor's D.C. office "Barbara "Biz" Van Gelder, Allegra Kauffman & Karen Williams [were a] team of attorneys [who] represented senior career Office of Management and Budget official Mark Sandy in his closed-door deposition with congressional investigators. [Biz] also represented former National Security Council official Tim Morrison. Hannah Cornett also joined the team in representing Morrison during his testimony."
