

Bruce Ficken selected as Lawyer of the Year Construction Law – USA by Lawyer Monthly

Friday, December 11, 2020

PHILADELPHIA, DECEMBER 11, 2020 — Cozen O'Connor is pleased to announce that Bruce Ficken, chair of the firm's Construction Law Group, was selected by Lawyer Monthly as Lawyer of the Year 2020 for Construction Law – USA. Now in its 11th year, the Lawyer Monthly Legal Awards are designed to identify and celebrate the achievements of dynamic people and businesses in the legal sector. The awards have been developed to celebrate the leaders, innovators, and rising stars within law, and the achievements and successes of the best and brightest. Each vote was compared against a strict set of measurable criteria in order to produce a list of finalists and the eventual winners.

Bruce is a recognized authority in representing clients in construction and commercial litigation, as well as managing risk in construction projects. As lead counsel he has successfully conducted more than 60 major trials in the United States and in international arbitrations. He has also helped numerous owners and developers with contract documentation, contract and project administration, and dispute avoidance and resolution. Bruce is an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association and as a mediator he has successfully helped resolve major construction disputes.

Related Practice Areas

- Construction Law