

Rogers-Shaw Hearings Not So Public Despite Tribunal's Pledge to Hold Open Process

Friday, November 18, 2022

Michael Osborne was quoted in a Globe and Mail article discussing the increased interest and confidentiality aspects of the Rogers Communications Inc. and Shaw Communications Inc. public hearing. According to Michael, the virtual proceedings have attracted hundreds of audience members – a contest to the scarcely attended hearings usually run by the tribunal. While keeping certain information private is justified, Michael said that he has “thought for a long time that the tribunal should be more activist in requiring that there be a basis for claims of confidentiality.”

To read the full article, click here. (Subscription Required)

Related Practice Areas

- Antitrust & Competition
- Commercial Litigation