David Barron, Susan Eisenberg, Katheryn Gettman, Aaron Holt, Cassandra Jacobsen, and Walter Stella will present “Everything Employers Should Know About the FTC Rule Banning Noncompetes and New DOL Overtime Rule.” They will discuss recent rules, including the FTC’s ban on noncompetes and the DOL’s increase to the minimum threshold for salaried employees.

This webinar will provide practical answers to the following questions:

- If the FTC rule takes effect, what types of agreements would be outlawed? What options are available for employers to limit post-employment competition through incentives or other means?
- What are other state and federal actors doing to limit the enforceability of noncompetes?
- What options are available for employers to comply with the changes to the minimum salary threshold under the FLSA?
- Can employers take credit for bonuses and incentives to meet the new threshold?
- What are the practical considerations in converting salaried exempt employees to an hourly rate?
