

Trudeau Takes Aim at Corporate Canada as Inflation Sinks His Popularity

Tuesday, September 19, 2023

Michael Osborne was quoted in a Bloomberg article discussing the impact of Industry Minister François-Philippe Champagne's demand for grocery executives to decrease food inflation rates. According to Michael, the overall impact of competition-law reforms will depend on the details of litigation. "This is money they will have to spend complying with yet more government regulation. And that's going to get passed on to consumers in the end," said Michael.

To read the full article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Antitrust & Competition
- Commercial Litigation