

4 Things NY Law Firm Leaders Are Thinking About In 2021

Monday, January 4, 2021

Michael Schmidt was quoted in Law360 discussing the challenges employers face when employees return to the office. "It's a balance of remaining productive in a competitive New York market while also having to continue to address the psychology of the pandemic," he said. "How can you ensure employees will continue to be productive? What are their fears of going to the office?"

To read more of this article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Labor & Employment