

How Attys Are Advising Co-Op Boards Fearful Of Battery Fires

Tuesday, January 24, 2023

Leni Cummins is quoted in a Law360 article discussing the recent increase in fires caused by lithium-ion batteries in New York City and how it is crucial for condo and coop boards to have conversations about implementing e-bike and scooter regulations as a preventative measure.

"You have to have actually made a decision. Deciding you're not even going to put it on the agenda is not a decision. It has to be actually considered. And all the case law supports that," Leni stated.

To read the full article, click here (subscription required).

Related Practice Areas

- Condominiums & Cooperatives